About This Game

A colorful game in the style of .io for children and adults. Start playing in the store, and end up in a mall in the entertainment room for teens with a lot of console video games. Each hit in the target will bring you money for which you will buy new projectiles with a large income and at the same time you can pump the power of the throw to open new locations.

All the similarities with the characters and objects in the game are random and the authorship belongs exclusively to the authors of the game!
Have a nice game!

I have only played 30 minutes and I really enjoy this game. Its very basic game with basic graphics which is fine for me. It's a breath of fresh air from all these games that are out now. I like the music and the challenge of the game. Yes, I am horrible at this game but I got better over time. There are obstacles in the game that you should avoid and interesting on what items you use to play in the game> i just found overall its just a fun game to play and not take to serious. A++++
